“ I first met Warnie 48 years ago when I was dating his good friend Ed. The Wingos were part of the package and I grew to love them all. it wasn't hard. Warnie was wide open, especially in a car. Once he and I were riding together to Daytona Beach when Ed and I lived in Astor. He drove that car like he stole it and then he slowed down and did a donut. Once I got over the shock, I have to admit it was exhilarating. Anytime I would answer the phone when he called Ed or see him in person he would say "Well hey there honey." Whenever he hung up or left to go back home, he never failed to tell us he loved us. The world can ill afford to lose a good man--generous, loyal, loving, and kind to people and animals. He will be missed but he will not be forgotten.

“ Warnie and I were born 2 months apart and grew up in adjoining neighborhoods. Our fathers worked together and were very good friends. Our mothers were also close. Warren and Evelyn were like another set of parents to me. Chester and Warnie were like my brothers. They still are. Warnie and I stayed close friends for all the 66 years I knew him. I frequently visited him in WV and he visited me in NC, GA and FL. My Dad said Big Warren was a good mechanic, but Warnie was the best mechanic he'd ever known. He could work on anything and make it run again! Warnie worked on cars, trucks, boats, motorcycles, race cars ... engines of all kinds. He was also an excellent body man. He'd make a rusty car look new again! He was generous to family and friends. Whatever he had, he shared. No questions asked. I lost one brother 30 years ago, and now I have lost another. I will miss him!

“ He was one of the kindest people I've ever known, you were blessed if he cared about you, I knew if anything happened and my husband wasn't available, I could always call Wingo, I was feeling so sad when I heard of his passing, but I could hear him saying, “ Don't worry honey, I'm ok”, he wouldn't want us to be sad. Ron and I love you Wingo, we will miss you.

“ Oh my, where do I begin? Rufus, or Warnie, as I called him most certainly will be missed. My heart sunk with the news of his death. His Father and mine worked together at Union Carbide and thus the relationship occurred. We were like one big family between us. Warnie was a very personable. Once introduced to him you would immediately feel like a close friend. I cannot imagine life without him. Most importantly to me was his love and support of my late brother, Donzel who was a special needs child. He and the entire Wingo family supported Donzel with their time, Love and devotion. The Williams family would go on to enjoy this relationship for a lifetime. My thoughts are with his family and a prayer that with time, grief and sadness will be replaced with treasurable memories.
