“ Ame and I were close friends during our time at Hayes Junior High and St. Albans High School. I went to WVU and she to MU so we drifted apart. I knew she was ill but did not realize she was close to death.

She was a great person, great athlete. I learned of her death only a few moments ago. I am at the moment living in Roanoke. If I had learned of it yesterday, I would have made an effort to drive over for the service.

My sincere condolences to all her family and the friends she is close to today.

“ My earliest memory of Ame was in gym class at Hayes Junior High in St. Albans. We were playing dodge ball, and, boy, could she hurl that ball. I soon found out that this girl, one grade above me, could play basketball and tennis and whatever else she wanted to do. Wow, could this upperclassman be my friend? Ame really made my competitive juices boil, and the tennis season of my eighth- and her ninth-grade year marked the beginning of a connection we would share through junior high, high school and three years at Marshall University as tennis teammates.

Ame would win the Girl Athlete of the Year trophy in ninth grade. And when she went on to 10th grade, I would win it in my ninth-grade year. I followed in her footsteps like a little sister. We even shared the same birthday, April 15.

At Marshall, she helped me get acclimated to living in the dorm away from home, and we grew close to our fellow teammates, hanging out off the tennis courts as well.

In the summers when we were out of school, Ame and I would play doubles in – and win - city tournaments in Huntington and Point Pleasant. For the WOWK-TV Memorial weekend tournament one year, the TV station broadcast our women’s doubles finals match – our TV debut - with our Marshall coach, Joan Brisbin, offering commentary. We won that one, too.

In the fall of 1976 at Marshall, our team captured the state collegiate championship. Ame won her match at No. 3 singles. What a celebration we had.

When Ame graduated from Marshall, I had another year to go. That’s when Ame went her way, and I went mine. I married in 1981, and my husband and I moved to Orlando in 1989. Looking back, I wish I could have had another day with Ame to reminisce about our younger, carefree days and share some laughs. We might have even tried to hit a few tennis balls, and they probably would have felt pretty good.

On Sunday, April 15, I’ll be thinking of Ame as I turn 62. Rest in peace, dear friend.

Ame and I were friends even as infants. Our parents shared a deep friendship and Ame and I were often put in the same baby bed when our parents got together. Ame and I shared a lifetime of special memories, including graduating together from St. Albans High School in 1973. Ame was always a friend that I could turn to and I tried to be the same friend to her. I am so thankful for the many memories that I have of Ame. She was a very talented athlete and incredibly intelligent. You will be missed, my very dear friend. Libby Hale

“ Though Ame & I attended school together, we did not become acquainted until we worked together at the AEP call center. Ame always had an encouraging word, and her jovial laugh will never be forgotten. A fine person I was blessed to have known.

I pray that you have found peace and abundant love in your heavenly home Dear Ame. 31 years of friendship with so many memories of our wonderful adventures. And it all began at a Figure Skating Championship in Cincinnati in 1987 when 3 strangers came together to form a friendship that would last 31 years. I'll miss your "oh, dear Gussie"....that I thought was so hilarious the time. Rest in Peace my dear friend. You will be missed and will forever be in my heart. I love you.
