“ Barbara was my spiritual mother and covered me in prayers everyday. I have no doubt it was her prayers that got me through the past four years. She brought me food many times when I was working on restoring the house that eventually housed Beauty For Ashes. I'll never forget both of us standing on our porches during the storm of 2012 yelling at one another to go inside as the winds almost blew us down. After the wind and rain stopped I went over and sat on her porch swing and we watched the lightening over the trees and talked. I will miss my precious friend until the day I join her and we can set on a porch swing and talk about the beauty of Heaven. 🥹
