“ I consider myself very fortunate to have had Bob as a brother-in-law for 41 years.

It was always a pleasure to visit with Bob and Betty (the inseparable couple).

Many times, over the years, Patricia, or I, would ask Bob for his opinion on many things that a person deals with around the house.

We took his advice on everything he recommended, and it always turned out to be a good recommendation.

One time with regard to a complex issue with several options, he gave two options without differentiating which one would be the best one. Patricia and I flipped a coin, and arbitrarily picked one option without worry, because we knew that either option was a good one.

Just plain and simple, Bob was a good man!

“ Bob always had a tune to whistle on his lips. His eyes sparkled as he listened. It seemed like he could handle any tool, so no repair or renovation project or building project was too great for him. Since his father had passed away, he walked his sister, Jane, down the aisle, so that I could marry her. I believe that he is happy to be back with Betty and yet sad that he had to leave all his loved ones.

Condolences to all of the family.
