“ I met Brenda through her daughters. She was so full of life and so funny. Girls, I'm so sorry for your loss. She was crazy about you both.

I think of her often because she taught me this saying.....What goes through your lips stays on the hips! So whenever I start to eat a doughnut, Brenda comes to mind 😊

“ Brenda was one of the most loving and selfless people I've known. I'll never forget the way she stepped in and took care of my mom after she had a bad car accident, opening her home without hesitation and making sure she had everything she needed. That's just who she was.

Growing up, Brenda was like a second mom to me. Her home was always full of warmth, laughter, and a sense of comfort that made you feel like you belonged. Some of my favorite memories are the hilarious moments we all shared—times that still make me smile when I think about them.

Brenda had a way of making life brighter just by being in it. Though she's gone, the love and laughter she shared and the memories she created will never be forgotten. She will always hold a special place in a lot of hearts. Rest in peace!

“ Brenda and I met in 1963 when my folks bought a house from Bill and Micky. We went to the Church of God and high school classmates as well. She was always cheerful and caring for others in a way not many did. As a newbie, she made me feel truly welcome. We sang in various groups at church and her voice developed into a beautiful instrument for the glory of God. Oh how I wish I had gotten a copy of her singing Amazing Grace. Our lives took us in opposite directions but I always cherished her friendship and will miss her on Facebook where we reconnected a long time ago. Rest In Paradise until we meet again. Prayers for your family and friends.

“ Brenda was a part of our family and childhood from the Valley. she went to school with my sisters and she was always a part of growing up in the valley. She was the Guru Hair stylist. I was honored to visit her a couple of times before her last sickness and our visits were going down memory lane. She loved her pets but she loved her family so much more. I feel like I lost another sister. She will be missed for sure.
