“ There's no way I can share "A" memory because since I was 4yrs old you are in most of my memories. I remember the first time I saw you in that "Jackie O" black stroller. I also remember the last, you looked like you were sleeping in the downstairs bedroom off our parents house. But you were so cold, I climbed in bed with you trying to arm you up, it didn't work. We had a lot of great times growing up together, playing, dance lessons, church choir & bell choir. Cheering, Marshall games, family reunions and laughing, so hard. I hope you continue to laugh, sing, cheer, dance and love. There's a piece of my heart you took with you when you died, keep it close to yours so when we see each other again you can give it back & my heart will be whole again. I love you little sister💔💔
