“ *Mr. Lanham and family,
My sincere sympathy to you on your profound loss. I know this is a tremendously difficult time for all of you and my heart goes out to you and yours.*

For whatever reason, the Lord saw fit to give me the honor of meeting you and Mrs. Lanham those few days she and I shared Room 424 in the hospital. I can't help but believe that those few days, as difficult as they were for you, we're meant as a blessing to me. I know that may be hard to understand , but the fact that of all people, to put together, was someone that had known my Dad all those years ago. You made my heart a little lighter even as yours was so burdened, and I thank you for that.

May God be with you and your family during the coming difficult days ahead and give you peace in knowing that her body has been made whole again and trust and know that He will not leave you in your time of sorrow .

It was my privilege to know Mrs. Lanham , even just the few difficult days we were together in the room, but her dignity and grace left a lasting place in my heart. Take care and God bless you , Deanna Douglass (Jack's daughter)

“ The most vivid memory is watching Friday the 13th and halloween during sleepovers with Christi and Stacy. You would do our hair and let us be girls. Your shop in st. Albans is your legacy! You made people feel pretty! Thank you aunt Glenna! (Oh and you married a man who looks like Kenny Rogers) love that man to pieces too! Go with God, your body is a vehicle for your soul/spirit....find a newer model car and keep on keepin on! Love you, Crystal

“ My beautiful great Aunt Nonnie, when I was a little girl I remember coming to your beauty shop to visit you as I twirled in the chairs while you did hair, I swore that moment on I wanted to be just like you making people feel beautiful about themselves. I remember when I was 7 you pierced my ears at the Armstrong reunion & I got upset that I couldn't get back in the pool right away but I felt grown at that moment. I still have those earrings after all this time. Years later as a teen you pierced my ears at my mam-maw Willy's house with a ice cube a cut up potato & a sewing needle with thread. You could tell I was nervous but you reassured me it would not hurt," I promise you baby" is the exact words you spoke & I said "ok I'm ready" as I latched on to your leg. I will never forget the conversation we had 2 yrs ago at the Christmas party my Mam-maw(your sissy) had at the church in Ohio, you gave me so much courage with those words of wisdom you spoke so well, never doubting me not once. You always knew how to make someone feel special & loved throughout all these years with a smile on your beautiful face no matter the pain you felt. You was always cheerful & soft spoken a heart of gold but full of sass of course. You & your Sissy take good care of each other now, as I know you both will. Give mam-maw a kiss for me & tell her I love her. Until the day I see you both again with open arms. I will greatly miss you & I Love you dearly. Love Always, Nicole (Crystal N. "sissy" Hager Woods)
