“ My heart aches knowing I will never hear that amazing laugh or get hugged so tight again. You always knew just what to say and just what to do, to always put a smile on my face and take my mind off of anything going on in my life. I will for ever cherish all the memories that we made over the years and all the fun we had after every Friday night football game shooting pool, all our bon fires, ridge running and how you would torture me and make me listen to Hank Williams all the time lol. You were my very best friend and I can't believe you are gone. Rest easy my friend and know how much of an impact you had on not only my life but the lives of so many others. Love you little brother, till we meet again 🥹

“ Always, always thought the world of you and will continue to do so. Im so sorry life has to be so very tough for some of us. You fought a valiant battle and now rest my friend. When you get settled in over there across that thin veil, make sure the chairs are set up and the coffee is hot and in the pot. If you can, help keep an eye on us Perhaps give us a nudge in the right direction when you can. But, most of all, rest. You deserve to rest. Loved you as a brother here, and look forward to seeing you again when the time comes. My heart feels somehow at ease knowing you'll get things ready for us. May Gods richest blessings be upon your mother and father and the countless brothers and sisters you left behind. Rest easy ol' friend, rest easy.

“ Josh was the most genuine guy there ever could be he could light up the whole room when he walked into it with his big smile and his wonderful personality..He was defiantly taken way to soon. He used to come to our house and even lived with us for a month or so in Ohio. He had a heart of gold and we have some wonderful memories with him and really wish there could've been more memories to make. But he's in heaven now no more pain and no more fighting that demon and he's at peace and he may walk from above but he will still be with a lot of us in spirit. He's so very much gonna be missed by so many. Love and Prayers gone up for Carolyn and Kevin and the whole family and all his friends at this difficult times..Deepest Condolences.

“ To the family of Josh....I know the pain you are feeling because I lost my youngest son this past Dec.1. The hurt is unbearable. I pray for understanding and comfort at this most difficult time for your family. I pray that Jesus be with you and heal your broken heart. You do not know me, but I grew up with Ann in WV, Blessings to all of you.
