“ My deepest condolences to Sandy’s family and friends. May God provide you the strength, guidance and wisdom to get you past this difficult time. As I write this note I wanted to also share how Sandy touched my life.

When I first moved to West Virginia – I had no family or roots there. Thanks to Jim Ruziska who introduced me to a family of people who took me in as if I was born and raised there. These people were my adopted family - Janice and Bear, Martha and Jim and of course Larry and Sandy. Sandy and Larry were very special people to me when I first moved to West Virginia.

Sandy had an incredible sense of humor and she always had me rolling with laughter between the wit and comments made by her and this entire group. It is hard to imagine that this particular bunch is getting smaller as the years roll on – but Heaven is filling up with some great funny and loving people. I cannot imagine Heaven being the same from now on. Bear, Larry, Martha and now Sandy must be partying again - especially with Sandy up there now.

This once young man (now old fart) from Brooklyn retains the best memories of what is important in life because of the way Sandy and the group introduced me to West Virginia and how they lived their lives. West Virginia truly is my home away from home and I have always felt a strong connection since the time I met them all – not to mention I married a West Virginia girl who is now my absolute direct connection.

It is sad to know we have lost another great one that was a light, filled with fun, happiness and candor. Times like this make me always think of how honored we were to have met those that were among us who we enjoyed and made our lives more tolerable by their mere presence – they were a gift. A gift from God. Those of us that met Sandy were able to enjoy that gift and now God has taken His gift back to share with everyone else for eternity.

*May you rest in peace Sandy and may your spirit continue to live in all of us left behind.
God Bless you.*
