“ My son, who was in such a hurry to be born, that your dad has to deliver you in the car on the side of I45, you never slowed down in life. After being in such a rush in life, you left me too soon. I love you so much and am missing you so much that my heart is breaking. Just like your sister there will never be a day that goes by that I will not think of you. Rest easily son. Momma bear will see you again one day.
